

On notebook paper:

1. How did the revolutions of 1848 have an effect, even though none of them succeeded in taking power?

2. In the paragraph that say 'Revolutions are thus planetary phenomena...What they really do is transform the basic assumptions of what politics is ultimately about', what ideas does the reading say were changed from being on 'veritably lunatic fringe' to being accepted?

3. Looking over the whole reading, which years are mentioned as having had revolution
